CHEFCENTRIC

Mercer Culinary is obsessed with the foodservice industry. Everything we do is centered around how it affects culinary professionals. Our job is to make your job more enjoyable, easier, and more efficient.

Our collective decades of experience behind the line allows us to engage with you, listen to your issues, and come up with innovative solutions which tackle the problems of today's foodservice operations. These collaborations have resulted in the ever-expanding product offering you will find in the following pages. So many of these products have a story – the result of your feedback, issues, and challenges.

We love this industry. There is nothing like it and we cherish the relationships built over decades. Thank you for being our partner and allowing us to grow together.

Forged vs. Stamped

There are many choices in professional cutlery. Choose the best option for your needs.

Forged

One complete piece of steel, from the tip of the blade to the end of the handle.

Forged knives are made from a single piece of steel. The metal is heated to a high temperature, rearranging its molecular structure which provides excellent strength. This results in a cutting edge that stays sharper longer and is easier to maintain.

Forged knives have a bolster, the center support piece between the blade and the handle. This adds weight and balance to the knife and protection for your fingers. Forged knives also feature a full tang, the portion of the metal enclosed by the handle.

Stamped

Machine cut from one large strip of steel.

A die is loaded into a press to cut the knife shape from the steel blank. The blade is tempered, sharpened, and finished. This manufacturing process makes the knives more cost effective to produce. Stamped knives are usually thinner and lighter, offering an economic alternative to traditional forged cutlery.

Given their lighter characteristics, more downward force may be required compared to heavier forged blades. Because of their thinner profile, blades may also require regular maintenance more often than forged cutlery.

Knife Metals

Steel is the heart of the blade. The choice of blade materials is a huge component of knife performance. Heat treatment, blade geometry, edge grinding, and handle design also contribute to performance.

In deciding on the right knife, consider the following blade attributes:

- > Strength – hardness/ability to take a load without permanently deforming
- > Wear Resistance – ability to withstand surface abrasions
- > Edge Holding – ability of a blade to hold an edge

Blades contain a variety of elements which contribute to the above attributes.

- > Carbon – all steel contains carbon, which adds hardness to the blade. The more carbon, the harder the blade
- > Chromium – adds hardness, but also allows the knife to hold an edge and contributes to rust-resistance
- > Vanadium – allows a knife to retain an extra-sharp edge
- > Molybdenum – contributes strength and wear-resistance
- > Manganese – contributes strength and wear-resistance

Color Coding = Food Safety

According to the CDC, one in six Americans is affected by a food illness each year. 48 million become ill and 128,000 people are hospitalized annually. With these numbers continuing to rise, operators need to address these issues in order to assure customers that food is being handled safely, with a process that minimizes risk.

One of the most common ways bacterial contamination occurs is through cross-contamination, or the transfer of harmful bacteria from one food product to another by way of kitchen tools that have not been cleaned properly. Many professional kitchens color code tools that are used for different foods to prevent cross contamination using the HACCP system.

Mercer Culinary® has seen these growing food illness and allergy trends and recognized the impact on the foodservice industry. This led to the design and development of Millennia Colors®. The HACCP compliant, color-coded handles offer an easy way to identify and implement systems to safely prep, cook, and serve food.

Benefits utilizing Millennia Colors® as part of a HACCP color coding system:

- > Fewer food handling errors
- > Eliminates any language barrier
- > Makes training staff easier
- > Creates an efficient and safe kitchen
- > Shows a commitment to food safety to both customers and inspectors

HACCP COLOR CODING SYSTEM

Custom Embroidery

Mercer's state of the art equipment offers tremendous options in custom embroidery to give you the look you want. Our in-house embroidery department uses the latest technology and experience to create sensational looks.

Logos (MELOGO)

For custom logos, files should be in .ai, .eps, .pdf, or .png format. Artwork should be submitted via e-mail to artwork@mercerculinary.com. Please make sure to specify the location on the garment the logo is to be sewn. The placement of embroidery is from the perspective of the person wearing the garment. i.e. Left Chest = Heart side.

Actual size of the logo on a garment depends on the shape and artwork supplied. Our professional in-house embroidery department will sew your logo to provide the best possible outcome on each garment. If more information is required, please call our Customer Service department to obtain further details.

Allow up to 5 business days to receive electronic logo approval artwork. Allow ten business days from approval of artwork for orders to ship from our Ronkonkoma, NY warehouse.

Text Space is limited to 20 characters per line (including spaces) for Unisex and Men's jackets, and 16 characters per line (including spaces) for Women's jackets.

Steps for a Perfect Fit

1. Stand up straight with arms hanging straight by sides.
2. Breathe normal. Wrap measuring tape under armpits around largest part of chest.

3. In the back, wrap tape measure across shoulder blades.
4. Tape measure should be snug, not tight.

5. Keep measuring tape parallel to the ground.
6. Add an inch to measurement if a looser fit is desired.
